Feeling nostalgic and proud in two ways as I lurk in the thread today:

1. WVSU, west oh west...my alma mater...Daku na gid man ang pag-bag-o ah. The memories of my high school are still fresh.
2. The Guam story...a sad but really triumphant story. Great film. I hope it would be successful in its objective of making the ilonggo migrant workers part Guam/US history. The ilonggo spirit literally and figuratively rebuilt Guam. I feel proud.

Under the American Sun: Camp Roxas Film Project (Agat, Guam, 1946- 1972) will recount a little-known chapter of American history - the story of skilled and unskilled laborers and professionals recruited from the Philippines' Iloilo Province by the United States military to rebuild Guam, devastated by years of Japanese occupation and war.

Thank you.
